Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 17 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mainly fine after early fog and low cloud clears. Warm.

Today:
A fine start, with early fog and low cloud in places gradually clearing to reveal some warm sunshine for many. Perhaps cloudier at times in the north. Winds remaining light. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Tonight:
Fine into the evening, with temperatures dipping under clear spells to bring a risk of fog patches and low cloud once again, especially in the east. Locally chilly by dawn. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Monday:
Brightest during the morning after a chilly start with local fog, with some sunny spells possible. Thickening cloud then spreading eastwards later, culminating in a little rain in places. Warm. Maximum temperature 19 deg C (66 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Unsettled with spells of rain and heavy showers. Often windy too, particularly later Wednesday and overnight into Thursday. Temperatures well above average at first, but trending downwards from midweek.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.